

Solar irrigation system installation in Namibia

Overview

Can solar power help mungongi agricultural project irrigate water?

Mungongi Agricultural Project recently received an innovative and tailor-made mobile solar-powered irrigation system to meet the project's water needs. With this innovative system, the project can now harness solar energy to pump water from the river to efficiently irrigate their crops.

How has solar energy impacted innovation in Namibia?

As the solar sector continues to grow in Namibia, innovation has also capitalised on this growth. Mungongi Agricultural Project, located just 500 metres from the Kavango River, in Musese village, Kavango West region, is one of the first few agriculture projects in Namibia to explore innovation with solar energy irrigation.
